

Buried Troubles

Margaret Nutt

I buried all my rubbish right down inside the ground,
I buried them nice and deep so they could not be found.
I walked away and left them where they could not be seen,
They weren't my problem anymore at least my house is clean.
As days went by I added more to that pile that I did start, Then this little bump appeared, so I stepped over to depart.
Each time I added more and more till the pile got quite big, Now all could see my rubbish that I thought were well hid.
I alone could not climb over the pile that had grown so tall, I asked the lord to help me because on my own I would fall.
He took me on his shoulders and carried me over the top,
And set me down on the other side, he did not let me drop.
If I had handed him my problems instead of pushing them away, That pile would never have grown so tall and I would hear him say, Dear child I will never leave you to struggle with life's ways, I will forever walk beside you and carry you through those days.

A Night For Gambia

Quiz Night & Mini Auction

£4 per ticket

This is Lamin a friend of The Scott Family and their friends Ann and Helen Tarry

He lives in The Gambia.

Lamin is a 34 year old who is the oldest child of his parents. The home that he lives in is owned by his father. He has three little brother and a sister. Lamin is the bread winner along with his brother. They earn very little money but try and look after the family with food and basic needs.

We are grateful that Major Richard Crowe who has allowed us to hold this event to support Lamin. The reason is that the home Lamin and his family live in have a roof that is leaking badly with holes in the corrugated roofing.

Our aim is to raise enough money to help pay for the new roof

We are lucky also to have BBC Radio Northampton Football Summariser Tim Oglethorpe who will be our Auctioneer on the night. We also plan to have some of the auction items on Karl and Graeme's facebook page a week before the event in case anyone would like to put a bid in

The British Ambassador of The Gambia Sharon Wardle has emailed Graeme recently and said What a nice gesture we are doing for our Gambian friend and how much she is impressed by the constant generosity of The British people who visit and support The Gambia
